

REACHING OUT TO OUR STAKEHOLDERS

Internationalization always has been about ‘having being there and done that’. Pandemic made us realize that this would not be possible anytime soon, and we needed to maintain the connect with our valued partners. It was time to forge a different bond, knock at the doors of our collaborators who kindly agreed to deliver webinars and online classes for our present students.

KNOWLEDGE ENHANCEMENT@OIA

The impact of the COVID-19 crisis is already being felt across sectors and higher education is no exception. While some experts have argued that the effects like student mobility or migration will be temporary, others have argued that this crisis may herald more fundamental shifts in the sector including curriculum reforms, revenue generation, immigration norms as well as innovative modes of learning. To understand these nuances and scenarios operating at the moment, team international attended a number of online sessions.
